Topic: The Vendor-Neutral Gift Guide

1. Battery-Free is Best

- Look for devices that are rechargeable or use "Optical Charging" so your loved one doesn't have a battery chore.
- Chip's Tip: At Red Glen, we recommend gifts that solve a problem, not ones that create a new technical headache.

2. Watch for Subscriptions

- Some gifts require a monthly fee to work; always check the box for "Subscription Required" before buying.
- Chip's Tip: A high-quality digital photo frame is often a more cherished gift than a complicated new laptop.

3. Consider the "Setup."

- If the gift requires a lot of wires or accounts, include a "Coupon for RGE Setup" to make the gift stress-free.
- Chip's Tip: The best gift is one that works the minute it's opened without requiring a 50-page manual.
